Three main area of interest where TCI Institute of Logistics aims at are Skilling Business, School Education and Research & Development. TCI Institute of Logistics is setting up vocational training centers across India, to develop employability skills among unemployed youth, graduate, Post graduate for pursuing career logistics industries.

BACKGROUND

India's logistics sector is poised for accelerated growth, led by GDP revival, ramp up in transport infrastructure, e-commerce penetration, impending GST implementation, and other initiatives like 'Make in India.' This offers opportunities across the spectrum for companies in transportation, storage, distribution, and allied services, Empirical evidence suggests the Indian logistics industry grows at 1.5-2 times the GDP growth. The proposed new goods and services tax (GST) regime and e-commerce will alter the landscape in warehousing, supply chain management and third party logistics business, logistics requirement for e-commerce will grow as exponentially. Indian logistics sector is estimated to have grown at a healthy 15% in the last five years. Indian E- Commerce is at an all – time boom and is growing exponentially each year. It is expected to grow 5 to 6 times in the coming three to five years. With such a scenario, the increase in demand of well aware and educated people in the field of Logistic and Warehousing in particular will be huge. Keep this trend in in mind TCI Institute of Logistics has designed a short term course, which talk about the aspects of Warehousing and which will also equip the participants to have a knowledge of Supply Chain / Warehousing.
